WQA AQUATECH USA PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE — MARCH 22, 2011

International association honors local resident William E. Hall, Water Specialist Emeritus Earns highest award for long dedication to quality water treatment

Lisle, Illinois USA — The Water Quality Association presented Azle, Texas business leader William E. Hall, Water Specialist Emeritus, of Haltec Services Company, with its highest honor, the Hall of Fame, at its annual convention and trade show in San Antonio this month.

WQA has more than 2,500 members, consisting of individuals and companies in the water treatment industry. Awards were presented at WQA Aquatech USA, an annual event that attracts thousands of participants from around the world.

The award is given for “Lifetime dedication and service to the water quality improvement industry, and extensive participation and unfailing support for the betterment of the association.” WQA stated: “Bill has always shared his knowledge and expertise with others in our industry. He has authored countless technical articles on various aspects of water treatment technologies. Bill has served many years on technical committees and authored several technical manuals for WQA. Bill continues to teach water treatment specialist courses helping dealers obtain their licenses. He recently translated curriculum into Spanish to provide bilingual training to members of the industry.”

The Water Quality Association is a not-for-profit international trade organization representing the residential, commercial, and industrial water treatment industry. Its membership consists of both manufacturers as well as dealers/distributors of equipment. WQA is a resource and information source, a voice for the industry, an educator of professionals, a laboratory for product testing, and a communicator with the public.
